THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS

TERMS:

Throughout the next year you'll get all the support and coaching you'll need to write, publish, and sell your book; however, we can't guarantee your results. The results come from your actions and implementation. We can coach you through being productive, taking inspired actions, and pushing through procrastination, but we can't pick up the pen for you and get your book written.

By committing to this program:

You agree the results are based upon your work, your actions, and that the results you see are based upon your efforts alone.

You also understand that we don't offer refunds. If you believe you are unable to continue for whatever reason, we will coach you through any self-sabotage, procrastination, or writers' block. Only after coaching might we consider a temporary pause on your program.

We look forward to having you and can't wait to read your book!
